

RAMA PRANAV KRISTAM SENIOR CONSULTANT

rkristam@engsys.com

Rama Pranav Kristam is a Senior Consultant in ESi’s Civil Structural and Environmental practice, with over 10 years of combined experience in design and forensic structural engineering. He brings significant expertise in structural forensic investigations, construction defect analysis, design structural engineering, expert testimony, and repair method analysis for both commercial and residential structures. His comprehensive experience covers the full project lifecycle, including the development of conceptual drawings, construction drawings, construction administration, diagnostic and performance analysis, risk assessment, failure analysis, and repair method analysis. Additionally, Mr. Kristam has significant project management experience.

Over his decade-long career, Mr. Kristam has gained extensive experience in forensic investigations and structural engineering. As a Forensic Engineer at Charles Taylor Engineering Technical Services and Polaris Forensics, he conducted detailed forensic investigations of residential and commercial structures, assessing damage from wind, hail, fire, and flooding. In his role as Vice President of Engineering at A1 Industries, he oversaw structural analysis and design for residential buildings across Florida, Georgia, and South Carolina. His hands-on approach involves collaborating directly with clients and teams to develop, implement, and manage projects focused on structural analysis, damage assessment, and forensic investigations.
